For more than a year we have been listening to tales of woe on the way the city, county, state and nation are being run. In fact there are a number of chronic kickers that we do not need to repeat on the opposite side of the street these days to prevent them from buttonholing us and pouring their tales of woe into our ears.

Which reminds us of a statement which we heard yesterday to the effect that it is the non-voter who is responsible for the conditions of government and usually the first to howl when things don't go just the way to suit him.

In order to be able to cast a ballot at the polls every voter must be registered at least thirty days prior to the date of election. Considering the fact that only approximately fifty per cent of the voters of the county have registered so far and that the first primaries will be on August 31 it behooves some of us to get our names on the dotted line so that we can make our little Xs at that time.

Indications (without discussing politics) early in the year were that there would not be much of a contest this year. At present it looks as though Contra Costa is going to see one of the greatest political contests of its history during the next few months. Axes are already being sharpened and the glad hand artist is busy morning, noon and night getting ready for the contest.

There have been numerous elections in this county where are told when less than 35 per cent of those eligible to vote cast their ballots. This is a lamentable condition. And yet we insist with a great deal of pride that we are democratic.

It was recently suggested by a speaker here that a law be enacted taking the voting privilege away from those who do not cast their ballots. The law as suggested would disfranchise the non-voter temporarily after the first offense and make the disfranchisement permanent after the second or subsequent offenses. This speaker put the government of the nation directly on the shoulders of the non-voters.

Yes we are a democratic nation???

Favorable Weather and Wind Favors Intrepid Flyers in Giant Dirigible

(By Universal Service)
OSLO, NORWAY, May 11.—When Captain Amundsen, his American aid Lieut. Lincoln Ellsworth and their party left Kings Bay, Spitzbergen this morning on the attempt to reach the North Pole in the dirigible Norge, fair weather with a south wind prevailed and favorable conditions throughout the Polar regions were forecast. The dirigible therefore should reach the Pole shortly after midnight tonight and Point Barrow, Alaska, Thursday morning if all goes well.

If unfavorable weather conditions are encountered the arrival in Alaska may be delayed until Friday night.

COPENHAGEN, May 11.—"We are passing over Polar ice. The time is now 11:45 a. m." This message attached to a wireless addressed to the Norwegian government, in which he expressed thanks to the premier for the good luck message received just before starting, was the first direct news picked up from Capt. Roald Amundsen since the Norge took off for the flight over the North Pole.

The message indicates the airship was making good progress as at that time it had been only two hours on its farthest north journey.

"All personal equipment has been brought aboard, skis, arms. (Continued on Page 8)

Senate Passes Bill to Prevent R. R. Walkouts

Bill Backed by Railroads And Workers Now Goes to The President for Signature

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, May 11.—By a vote of 69 to 13, the Senate today passed the Watson-Parker railroad "peace" bill, which was backed by sixty railroads and 700,000 employees in the hope of substituting arbitration for future strikes that might tie up the transportation system of the nation.

The bill abolished the railroad labor board, sets up local grievance committees to adjust disputes and established a National commission, which would investigate a strike or threatened strike and place the blame publicly upon the guilty party.

Under the bill the men and railroads agree to abstain from strike or lockout for thirty days after such a report is published. The national commission is also empowered to arbitrate disputes, if asked by both parties.

The bill was passed by the Senate in the same form that it passed the House, all attempts to amend it being voted down by overwhelming majorities. It now goes to the President for his signature.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—Jack A. Blod, 31, arrested last night after he had attempted to force entrance to the apartment of Agnes and Helen Harrington, dancers, appearing at a local vaudeville theatre, will be examined as to his sanity. It was decided today by Police Judge Golden.

Federals Fight Moonshine Gang

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 11.—A pitched battle between Federal prohibition agents and moonshiners is being waged tonight in the mountain district of St. Clair county, fifteen miles from Onega with every indication that the moonshiners are having the best of the battle so far.

When R. N. Buckner, one of the federal agents was reported shot and perhaps fatally wounded, McPherson, prohibition director for the northern district of Alabama, tonight rushed a score of dry agents in automobiles to the scene of the battle.

The moonshiners are strongly entrenched in a wood, which the drys are preparing to storm.

SOUTHERN M. E. ROGERS VISITS STRIKE AREA

(By Universal Service)
MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 11.—Southern Methodists Tuesday forgot modernism, fundamentalism, unitarianism and other questions that have split their ranks and united in presenting a solid front to the liquor forces.

"They went on record as favoring a tightening up of prohibition laws, more appropriations for enforcement and more latitude in the issuing of search warrants."

No Responsibility Fixed in Death

No responsibility in the death of Clifford Kilburn of Antioch who received fatal injuries while welding a pipe on the Mokelumne water project was fixed by a coroner jury in Martinez yesterday afternoon. The inquest was conducted by Coroner Charles F. Donnelly. Kilburn who died at the county hospital in Martinez on May 5 received fatal injuries when a cave-in forced him against a number of hot pipes in the company plant.

"Shock and gangrene with severe burns as a contributory cause" was the cause of death according to the jury's verdict.

ROGERS VISITS STRIKE AREA

(By Universal Service)
LONDON, May 11.—Will Rogers is in town on his way to Italy and today surveyed the situation. "When I first saw this strike," he remarked to Universal Service, "I thought Mr. Coolidge must be running it. Nobody was saying anything and nobody was doing anything."

"The only disorder I have seen occurred in the House of Commons yesterday. There was real misconduct when the members talked about one another."

"Today Lord Astor took me into the House of Lords and we all had a good nap and came out much refreshed for the night. I was asleep and it seemed to me we all hit the hay."

"Also I drove around the London docks today and everybody was very gentlemanly. The dockers will not go to work but they will go out and get men to do their work."

"The only excitement, from my viewpoint, was that between four and five o'clock the strikers and workers both had tea."

"I am going to Italy to see Premier Mussolini, he ought to be here to start some fun."

Having finished his comedy strain, Will said in earnest:

"Seriously the spirit of the people of the country are showing is remarkable. The government switches into the strike at a moment's notice and the way they are handling transports in Hyde Park and elsewhere is wonderful."

"I wouldn't have missed the sight of these achievements for anything."

Lady Astor entertained Rogers in the House of Commons tonight at a party. Answering the plaudits of members who spoke, the comedian offered his own original comments on the situation.

Whipping Post Is Favored By Judge Graham

Wife Beaters Should Be Given The Lash Says Famous Judge Of San Francisco

(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—Judge Thomas F. Graham of the Superior Court, known far and wide as the great reconciler is in favor of a whipping post for wife beaters.

After hearing the testimony of Mrs. Alberta Collins who was granted a divorce from Charles Collins, Judge Graham went squarely on record favoring this mode of punishment for wife beaters.

Mrs. Collins testified that when she returned home at 9 o'clock one evening and said she had been at her mother's. Collins beat her with a knotted rope.

"I wish there was law by which I could send that man to the whipping post," declared Judge Graham. "I'd like to have that man in my court under such a law. Twenty-five lashes would be an adequate punishment for such a husband I should say."

Mellon Takes a Dive in Politics

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, May 11.—Leaping into the political arena he has shunned for many years, secretary of the Treasury Mellon will make the first campaign speech of his career in Pittsburgh Friday on behalf of Senator George Wharton Pepper. Upon re-election of Pepper to the Senate hangs the Pennsylvania Republican organization and the prestige of the Coolidge administration, according to political leaders in Washington.

Mellon's speech will deal with the Pepper ticket and matters relating to the Pennsylvania campaign. His exact topic, he declared, is yet to be selected.

The real issue is "Vindication or repudiation of the Mellon-Coolidge policies" those backing Pepper in his three-cornered battle with William S. Vane and Governor Pinchot for the Republican Senatorial nomination assert.

Mellon will not discuss prohibition at the big Pittsburgh mass meeting, which will climax the campaign leading up to the primaries May 18, he made it plain today.

Famous Bandit Without Counsel

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, May 11.—With his trial only 14 days away, Martin Durkin, drapper slayer of a federal agent is without counsel. Attorneys Reynolds and Woods, who had been retained by the slayer's mother, announced today that they had retired from the case. They gave as their reason "lack of cooperation in preparing the case."

Attorney Tyrell, chief of the defense counsel announced last week that he had retired from the case. He gave no reason.

At the same time, troubles continued to pile upon the gunman. When Mrs. Marion Austin announced that she would testify for the State in the case. The woman, 19 years old, is the mother of two babies.

Her husband was killed in the hysterical shooting that followed an attempt to capture Durkin at their apartment. Austin was the uncle of Betty Werner, erstwhile sweetheart of Durkin, who announced last week that she would take the stand for the State.

Durkin's mother appealed to the court to appoint an attorney as she was having a hard time obtaining counsel. Judge Miller assented.

Supervisor Jack Thornton of Vallejo was in Richmond yesterday visiting his brother George Thornton, vice-president of the Mechanics bank.

Strike Expected To Effect U. S. Says President

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, May 11.—Grave fears that a prolonged British strike will have a damaging effect upon American manufacturers and commerce are held today by President Coolidge and members of his cabinet.

Following up the survey which the President ordered to be made on the day the strike was called the cabinet members reported their observations to him at their regular meeting today.

Thus far no material effect has been found they reported. But, looking to the future President Coolidge believes that continuation of their strike will bring harmful results to America trade.

Advices received today were that England has a food supply sufficient to carry on for at least a month.

British railways are improving their services it was reported.

BYRD URGED TO FLY TO ALASKA

(By Universal Service)
OSLO, May 11.—The Evening Post says that Commander Byrd will fly from King's Bay, Spitzbergen to Alaska, via the North Pole.

NEW YORK, May 11.—A radio message urging Commander Byrd to abandon his proposed exploration of the "blind spot" of the Arctic and fly to Point Barrow, Alaska, the goal of Captain Roald Amundsen and the dirigible Norge, was sent to the polar flier at King's Bay, Spitzbergen, yesterday by Henry Woodhouse, president of the Aerial League of America, of which the naval aviator is a member.

The message read as follows: Commander Richard E. Byrd, King's Bay Spitzbergen: Congratulations to you and Bennett for the stupendous achievement. One of few that will distinguish this age from other ages is history when all else is forgotten. Hope you will undertake a flight from Spitzbergen to Point Barrow instead of to Peary Land or Grant Land.

As you know, the committee, including Amundsen, Bartlett, Shackleton, of which I was executive secretary, and which made the first plan for the conquest of the Pole by aircraft, determined that the Transpolar flight from Spitzbergen to Point Barrow would be a greater historic achievement and far less dangerous than the flight to the isolated Grant Land and Peary Land, where no aid is available for months in case of mishap. Point Barrow and the American continent are ready to welcome you.

HENRY WOODHOUSE, President Aerial League of America, The Aerial League of America, Woodhouse stated yesterday, in cooperation with the American Museum of Natural History, and Colonel G. B. Putnam, in charge of it, "have been in consultation for two weeks now on plans for a relief expedition to Greenland in case Commander Byrd lands there and is unable to return."

Word had been received from Captain Robert Bartlett, field head of the Greenland expedition, that the spring in Greenland was late this year, and that it would be impossible to navigate a vessel to Etah earlier than August.

"The significance of this," said Woodhouse, "is that if Commander Byrd should land in Peary Land and damage his landing apparatus in so doing, it would be impossible to get succor to him until well on into the summer."

Helping Lord Reading is also Sir Alfred Mond, himself a mineowner, who is stated to favor a more conciliatory attitude on the question of miners' wages and hours of work.

The cabinet faction behind Lord Reading is headed by the Earl of Birkenhead with the sympathetic support of Premier Baldwin who, above all, wants an early settlement for the sake of the country's prosperity.

The diehards in the ministry are still led by Chancellor of the Exchequer, Winston Churchill who wants the union issue fought to a standstill now rather than to have a recurrence of the labor trouble after a temporary settlement.

One highly interesting angle regarding the position which has been taken by King George is that it coincides with the view taken from the first by Lloyd George who insists that every effort be made to reopen negotiations between the parties directly concerned.

The one certain fact in the situation is that the unions have discovered their strength and are determined not to withdraw.

GOVERNMENT IS KEPT WAITING FOR LEADERS

Both Groups Appear to be Attempting to Find a Way to End the Struggle

By H. H. STANSBURY, Staff Correspondent, Universal Service

Copyright 1926, Universal Service
LONDON, May 12, 2 a. m.—The hope for a peace conference which appeared to be scheduled to have taken place under way shortly after midnight will not be held until some time later this morning or (tomorrow, according to the possibility of labor leaders offering a program.

At 1:30 this morning the trade union congress sent a message to No. 10 Downing street, informing the government that there was no possibility of them holding a conference with the cabinet until later in the day.

Premier Baldwin and the members of the cabinet, who had been waiting for word from the Trade Unionists for hours gave up their vigil and dispersed. Among those waiting in the government group were the Earl of Balfour and Lord Birkenhead.

It was stated that the Union executives are still unanimous against a compromise and demand guarantees that there shall be no reduction in the pay of the coal miner nor any increase in the hours of their work before discussion is opened on the question of withdrawing the general strike orders.

Both the strike leaders and the government are plainly endeavoring to find a road to peace and settlement, but in the event of their failure in the next 48 hours all sides agree that a desperate struggle is ahead.

(Copyright 1926, Universal Service)
LONDON, May 11.—King George, in personal conferences late today with his ministers, made it known that he is personally opposed to any plan to force the strike controversy to the bitter end.

Five serious railroad accidents occurred in the last twenty-four hours, all directly attributable to the government's effort to keep trains moving with the aid of volunteers.

Underground peace work, undertaken at the instigation of Lord Birkenhead and Lord Reading, Samuel, president of the coal commission, was joined today by the Marquis of Reading, who had been in conversation with the coal mine owners with the object of inducing them to vary their wage reduction order as a first move for the settlement of the strike.

So influential and persuasive is Lord Reading that it is possible he may drive the first wedge into the uncompromising position heretofore maintained by the coal operators.

Helping Lord Reading is also Sir Alfred Mond, himself a mineowner, who is stated to favor a more conciliatory attitude on the question of miners' wages and hours of work.

The cabinet faction behind Lord Reading is headed by the Earl of Birkenhead with the sympathetic support of Premier Baldwin who, above all, wants an early settlement for the sake of the country's prosperity.

The diehards in the ministry are still led by Chancellor of the Exchequer, Winston Churchill who wants the union issue fought to a standstill now rather than to have a recurrence of the labor trouble after a temporary settlement.

CLEAN-UP WEEK

Good citizen is a man whom you like to have as your neighbor. He does not throw tin cans, brush, papers, or rubbish in alleys or on vacant lots, but places waste material in boxes or baskets, convenient for the city cleanup wagons.

He does not scatter lawn cuttings in the streets or alleys, but sacks them, and hangs them on the back fence.

He does not burn leaves against curbs or on paved asphalt and means added costs for repairs—to himself and to you.

He does not choke his neighbors with pungent smoke by using his ash-pit as a smudge pot.

He does not leave his ash-pit door uncovered, so that ashes spill over the alley.

City inspectors patrol all alleys weekly, and city wagons clean all paved alleys each week.

Good citizens co-operate at home, instead of in the police court.

Which do you do?

A good citizen knows that uncleanness and carelessness are the obsequious footmen of disease.

He does not leave his garbage pail uncovered to breed flies. The less he leaves rotting, the less he is swatting.

He does not allow stagnant water to stand about his place and breed typhoid, nor invite alley-rats to be his guests.

A good citizen knows that over sixty-five per cent of all fires start in the homes—that over eighty per cent of those burned to death yearly are women and children. The next time it may be HIS wife or HIS child.

He does not use the roof of garages or out-house as a junk yard, nor pile his basement and attic with rubbish. These things are prolific causes of fire.

He does not leave only rags about his home or garage, knowing that they cause spontaneous combustion. HE breaks a match before throwing it away, for you cannot break a burning match.

The good housewife does not keep oil floor mops in a corner, or closet, but places them in metal containers.

She does not clean with gasoline, but uses non-inflammable cleaners, of which many are on the market.

A good citizen thinks of public property and public premises as well as his private property—for he is part owner of the street, the alleys and the parks. He knows that HE must help pay for all damages.

He uses street receptacles for waste paper and throws rubbish and papers in the containers placed for that purpose in the parks.

He does not commit vandalism, nor permit others to deface and scratch public buildings and statues, break or destroy benches—because it is HIS property, and HE must pay the bill.

A good citizen is constructive. He knows that every sweep of the paint brush spreads sanitation, beauty and content.

He knows that a well kept place attracts, but a neglected place detracts. That paint and varnish are the natural guardians of property.

A good citizen digs the dandelions from his lawn. One pest-ridden lawn will ruin a neighborhood.

He plants flowers in his garden, and cultivates roses in the cheeks of his children.

He plants a tree—and takes care of it after it has been planted. He makes a home out of a house by

INVENTION OF THE COTTON-GIN.

The year the first newspaper was published in the West, a great event also occurred in the South. Eli Whitney of Massachusetts, then living in Georgia, invented the cotton-gin.

Up to that time no practical method had been contrived for freeing the cotton fibre, or wool, from the multitude of seeds it contains. A negro could clean only about a pound a day, and as a result cotton was so expensive that none but the rich could buy it. By the use of Whitney's machine one man could clean a thousand pounds in a single day. England was amazed. Before the invention of the cotton-gin we had exported about three thousand pounds of cotton to Liverpool in a year. Ten years after the cotton-gin was put in operation we were exporting over forty millions of pounds, and every year saw an enormous increase.

The effect at home was marked. Mills for the manufacture of cotton cloth sprang up in New England. In the South the raising of cotton became immensely profitable. Planters gave more and more land to it. Cotton-production became one of the leading industries of the country.

And now the question of slave labor arose. Up to this period many in both the North and South had deplored the holding of slaves. They had earnestly discussed how, to rid the country of what they felt was an evil in itself and a danger to the nation. But the invention of the cotton-gin put the matter in a different light. Southern planters and Northern manufacturers of cotton both found it for their interest to keep the negro in bondage, since by his labor they were rapidly growing rich.

Nature's Oddities

The farmer's progress in mastering nature for the use of man is strikingly shown in a series of horticultural research studies by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation.

XVL JERUSALEM ARTICHOKE

Like the old time patent medicines, Jerusalem Artichokes are "good for man and beast" only it must not be confused with the standard or globe artichoke whose blossoms are regarded as such a delicacy. The Jerusalem artichoke belongs to a different family, and is a tuber. It takes its name from the true artichoke only because it is sometimes thought to resemble it in flavor.

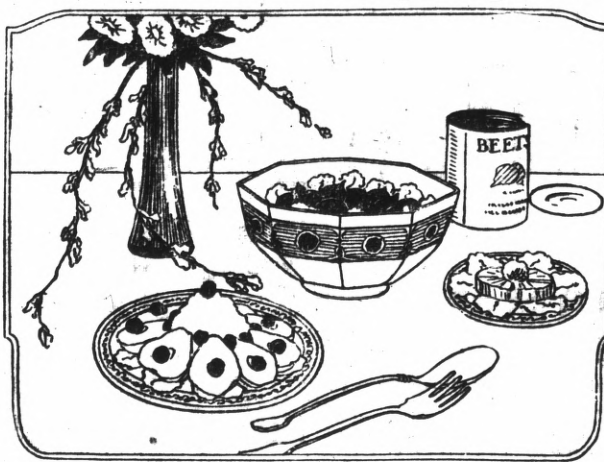

They are easily grown, and can be left in the ground and will grow in the same soil year after year, though they repay a little attention. Two or three dozen tubers grow on the plant and yield several hundred to the bushel.

For the table, they are decidedly palatable when scraped, cut in half-inch slices, boiled and served with a rich cream sauce.

For the hogs the Jerusalem artichoke is a splendid food and very economical. Three bushels will plant an acre and keep 20 to 30 hogs from April to October.

—RAGS WANTED—

Salads For Spring

A SALAD is the ideal luncheon for those warm spring days when we feel too enervated for a hearty meal, or even for a hot dish. It should be a light salad—crisp, cool and snappy, yet nourishing. Ready-to-serve vegetables, fruits, fish and poultry are excellent for the purpose, because they require little work and it takes but a few moments to arrange them.

Beet and egg salad pleases both the eye and the palate. Dice canned beets and mix them with quartered hard-boiled eggs on lettuce, with mayonnaise for dressing. Sliced pineapple and cheese-balls make a salad as picturesque as it is delicious. Grate or cut up 1/4 lb. American cheese and cream with 1 tablespoon mayonnaise. Roll into balls and place one in center of each slice of canned pineapple. Sprinkle with paprika and serve on lettuce with mayonnaise. The cheese that comes in tins will be found convenient, because it keeps moist that way.

An excellent spring salad consists of 1 cup canned sauerkraut, chopped; 1/2 cup chopped apple with skin left on; 1/2 cup chopped celery. Serve with mayonnaise on lettuce. And here is a tasty pea salad:—Mix No. 2 size can small peas with 2 tablespoons chopped onion, 4 tablespoons cream cheese and 4 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles. Serve on lettuce with salad-dressing.

Another savory spring salad is made thus:—Drain and chop contents of No. 3 can of spinach. Mix with mayonnaise and form into mounds, topping each with slice of hard-boiled egg.

LESSON IN HOME DRESSMAKING

Interesting New Editions to the List of Smart Lingerie Are the Slip and Step-in Drawers Pictured

THIS set developed in crepe silk, tub satin, voile or radium would be a smart addition to the lingerie chest. The slip is slashed in from the underarm edges, front and back, and the lower edges gathered. The drawers are left free part way and trimmed with lace. An elastic is inserted through the hem at the upper edge.

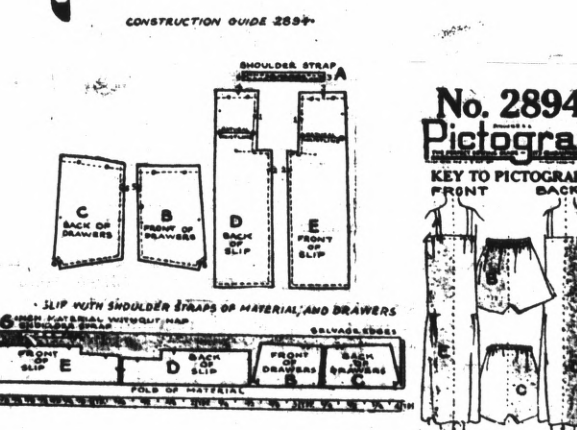

Lace edging is used for the upper part of the slip and the shoulder-straps are of ribbon. Medium size requires 4 1/2 yards of 36-inch material.

The front of the drawers and the back, as well as the front and back of the slip, are seamless. These sections, therefore, must be placed along the lengthwise fold of the material when cutting, as shown in the guide. Pin the pattern pieces on the fabric and cut around the edges. Instead of marking notches in the material, use chalk or tailor's tacks.

To make the garments, simply sew up the seams in the order of the numbers. First, close underarm seam of slip, then sew shoulder-strap underneath hem. If lace is used 1 1/2 yard of wide and 2 1/2 yards of narrow edging will be required.

Next, close outside seam of drawers, leaving the edges free below the large perforation in front. Close inside leg seam and hem the upper edge of drawers on line of medium perforations. Insert tape or elastic to regulate the fullness.

This set is very dainty in Georgette to wear under sheer frocks.

The present estimated wealth of negroes in the United States is $2,000,000,000, according to a recent survey made for the research section of the American Sociological Society by Dr. Monroe N. Work, of Tuskegee Institute. The wealth of the group, in 1912, was estimated at $700,000,000. The race has also made decided gains in the matter of health. The death rate, which was 22.9 per thousand in 1912, has now fallen to 15.7, or a decrease of 31 per cent.

Giving The Finishing Touch

SPRING days are apt to bring capricious appetites. We have a tendency, then, to turn with distaste from plain foods, plainly served. The palate must be tempted through the eye. By using foods which have already been prepared and cooked, and dressing them up in attractive ways, the busy modern housewife finds time to give that "finishing touch" which lifts ordinary food above the commonplace.

Canned foods may be used as the foundation of many delicious dishes. They require very little time and work, because all the preliminaries have been attended to in the canner. Grandmother had all this "rough work" to do, herself. Consequently she spent her life in the kitchen.

The 1926 housewife, after preparing various dainty dishes from ready-to-serve foods, has time left over in which to set an attractive table. She need not even bother to make a dessert, since she has only to take a rich and delicious fruit-cake out of a tin box, and serve it with after-dinner coffee. And it tastes just as good in summer as in winter.

Here are some tasty dishes quickly made from canned foods:—

Shrimps Baked with Tomatoes—Fill a buttered baking-dish with alternate layers of canned shrimps, drained canned tomatoes, and crackers. Season tomatoes with salt, pepper, and a little sugar. Dot crumbs with butter. Brown in moderately hot oven. This dish may be flavored with minced parsley or celery, and a little onion-juice.

Kidney Bean Salad—With one medium-size can of kidney beans mix one-half the contents of a No. 2 1/2 size can of sauerkraut, (serving the rest to use as a vegetable at some other meal). Add 1/4 cup salad dressing. Garnish with olives and parsley.

DENTAL HYGIENE

By ELIZABETH JEFFRIES

ARE WE TO HAVE "CHINESE DENTISTRY"?

CHINESE methods of meeting dental problems are now being studied and copied by leaders in the dental profession. Another aspect of the "yellow peril?" Not at all. An instance of finding out that China can teach us a great deal that is good, if we only care to look.

For the Chinese believe in "preventive" dentistry. There the dentist is paid for his assistance in doing away with the necessity of filling and pulling teeth. America is following suit.

In a recent issue of "Oral Hygiene," a magazine devoted to the discussion of the dental profession, one article states:

"It is not among the responsibilities that in the very near future both the physician and the dentist will be paid to keep their patients well, rather than to help them escape the penalties of error after these become evident."

This "proper care" hinges largely on nutrition and the treatment of the gums which hold the teeth. Healthy gums hold healthy teeth. Diseased gums secrete food particles which form tartar and destroy teeth. Healthy gums are had by providing rough foods which automatically clean the teeth. These coarse foods also contain nutritive qualities necessary for tooth structure.

But modern diet, so deficient in roughage, does not give this exercise to the gums. As a first aid to this condition which will take a great deal of educational work to correct, dentists have prescribed, as a stimulator for the gums, massage, with the finger, night and morning, after all tartar has first been removed from the teeth. This massage is greatly aided by the use of a tooth paste containing the proper ingredients.

When the gums are very tender this massage is best accomplished by gently stroking the gums with the fingers. Later a small tooth brush may be used. Many dentists declare that people who practice massage regularly are unlikely to suffer from the diseases of the gums now so common.

TASTE AND SYMBOLISM IN DRESS A TOPIC AT CAMP FIRE GIRLS' CONVENTION MAY 29TH

Chicago Camp Fire Girl in her symbolically decorated ceremonial robe

The ever important subject of dress, with special attention to the use of original and symbolic design, will be one of the topics taken up at the National Convention of Camp Fire Girls, to be held in Stockton, May 29. Care for personal appearance and good taste in frocks and hats and stockings has been one of the interests of Camp Fire Girls and in this connection exhibits will be held at the Convention showing attractive but not ultra models for the girls of high school age, and bringing out the use of symbolism.

Each Camp Fire Girl chooses for herself certain aims and desires for which she takes certain primitive symbols and embroiders or paints them on her Camp Fire ceremonial robe. The suggestion worked out by Camp Fire leaders, designers and artists of interior decoration, is that these symbols may be woven into frocks and hats and curtains and room furnishings with pleasing effect. The result will be not only beautiful but original, giving to each girl a design that she will not see on anyone else.

Speaking on the subject, "The Application of Symbolism to Costume Design," Miss Mary Patterson, associate professor of Household Arts, San Francisco, will take up one of the sessions of the convention.

Other topics of importance will be the conservation of parks and forests with special lectures by Stephen Mather, director of National Parks, Washington, D. C.; Jay B. Nash, superintendent of Playgrounds, Oakland, and Dr. Harold Bryant, nature guide, Yosemite Park. Among the other speakers at the convention are: Dr. Aurelia Rheinhardt, president of Mills College; Theodore Acland Harper, author; Miss Mary Vost, dean of women, Stanford University; Dr. Grace Fernald, University of California; Miss Frances Lucas, University of Southern California; Prof. C. PHYSICIANS TO TALK ON HEALTH OF CHILDREN

The second meeting of great importance to parents of the preschool child, as well as of all children, will be held in room 14 of the Lincoln school on Thursday, May 13, at 1 p. m. Dr. C. R. Blake and D. C. Walter Cole will preside in this conference to give expert advice in health matters, and parents are urged to attend.

The schools now have an extensive health program but it should be supplementary to and co-operative with that of the home, rather than corrective or remedial in its nature and the first contribution should be made by the parent.

Now is the time to get the information relative to the physical condition of the child before school begins in the fall.

Children in school, in order to do their best work, should be free from all remediable defects, those handicaps, which if neglected, will result in absences from school in the important opening months of the term. It will result, in all possibilities, in the inability of the child to do the required work. Dull hearing, imperfect vision, infected tonsils, adenoids, skin eruptions, carious teeth, bad scalp, conditions faulty posture, malnutrition and heart trouble will hold the child back in the work. All of these defects, except the last named, are readily curable in the three months before school begins in August.

People should be interested in these conferences and should learn what they mean to one and help the Health and School departments carry on one of the most forward movements for the benefit of the Richmond children.

'THE SEA BEAST' CLASSIC OF SEA AT CALIFORNIA

"The Sea Beast," the Warner picture that marks John Barrymore's return to the screen, is described as "an epic of the golden age of American sea-faring adventures." It deals with the 1840 whalers, and comes to the screen of the California, for two days, starting today.

Barrymore appears as Ahab, the New England sailor who falls in love with a missionary's daughter whom he meets on a voyage to Java. His brother, Derek, hurls with jealous hate at the success of Ahab as a lover, and when the brothers are off on a hunt for the enormous white whale, known as Moby Dick, his chance for vengeance comes. Out on a little boat, Ahab is the first to plunge the harpoon into the whale. He is glowing with pride of victory when Derek pushes him overboard into the churning waters.

Ahab's leg is amputated as a result of the sea beast's bite. Crippled and apparently deserted by the girl he loves, Ahab seizes the sea, a prey to the tormenting demons of revenge and despair. Carrying nothing for life, he lives amid sudden death and ever-present danger, but in the end, Ahab's story is the story of an unconquerable soul. Barrymore, who toyed so beautifully through the pretty romances of "Beau Brummel" and with such blood-curdling power through the horrors of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," is said in "The Sea Beast" to have at last found a picture that gives full sweep to the multitudinous powers that have given him his position as the foremost American actor of screen or stage.

The picture was adapted to the screen by Boss McQuinn from Herman Melville's novel, "Moby Dick." The direction was by Milford Webb.

A Felix the cat cartoon and an "International News" reel are also included on the same program.

A western film that is different from the modern, full of pep and humor, but with all the heroic qualities that make stories of the American West popular all over the world, is what local picturegoers may expect in "The Enchanted Hill," the new outdoor thriller which comes to the Richmond Theatre today and tomorrow.

It is a Paramount production of the immensely popular story of the same name by Peter B. Kyne, which ran serially in the "Comopolitan Magazine." Irvin Willat, remembered for his direction of "North of 36," weaved the story on this one and lined up a splendid cast headed by Jack Holt, Florence Vidor, Noah Beery and Mary Brian.

Filmed in the colorful desert country of New Mexico—the actual locale of the story—the picture shows in stirring and melodramatic fashion how warfare on the cattle ranches today has progressed from the old stereotyped methods.

No longer is a quick trigger and a fast horse sufficient for a man to hold his own against his enemies. Now, when Jack Holt, ranch owner and ex-convict, is forced to protect his property against a band of invaders, he uses machine guns and explosives. These are modern innovations that prove the old West is rapidly disappearing.

Action is the thrilling keynote of "The Enchanted Hill," but the love interest has not been overlooked. In fact, the romance between Jack Holt and Miss Vidor, complicated as it is by their enmity for each other, is one of the most human and sympathetic love stories ever filmed on the screen. Make it a point to see this picture! You are sure to enjoy it!

Other features include "Dynamite Doggie," a comedy riot; "Prizma," the screen magazine.

STEEL CONSTRUCTION TO CUT HIGH COST OF HOME BUILDING

Use of Standardized Shapes Promises Solution of Vital Problem.

THE application of the principles of skyscraper construction to the erection of small residences is advanced as a solution of the high-cost-of-housing problem following an investigation, sponsored by the American Institute of Steel Construction, of the housing situation in towns and cities throughout the United States.

The mounting costs of building construction have threatened the very existence of the small, moderately-priced dwelling during the last few years. To meet the situation various expedients have been proposed, the latest of which are embodied in the housing bill of the New York State Legislature, and a home financing project undertaken by the labor banks to reduce the cost of home ownership to workers.

Such moves are of unquestioned value, but it is held that the use of standardized steel construction for the frames of small residences cuts at the root of the problem and promises a measure of permanent relief. All-steel construction for small dwellings, it is said, can contribute still further towards bringing an attractive and substantial built house more within the realm of possibility for the man of small means.

Steel in the Home

In discussing the use of steel in residence construction, Henry R. Brigham, Chairman of the Housing Committee of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, said: "As this country grows the decrease in timber reserves will make it increasingly more difficult and expensive to use lumber in such construction to the extent that it is now used, and the increasing congestion of our cities demands construction offering greater resistance to fire.

"It is up to the steel industry to arrange for the fabrication of steel for such purposes in designs that can be more easily and quickly handled and erected than wooden beams and girders, and at less cost; and to arrange for its distribution in smaller unit shipments. It is possible to extend the use of steel even further by using sheet steel for the walls."

The move to make steel available for residence construction is already well under way in this country. A considerable number of houses with steel frames, and others of all-steel construction have already been built. In erecting a home of the new type at Tarrytown, New York, steel frames formed of bars riveted in the shop were brought to the site and bolted together. The shapes were so arranged that each would register with the holes in the ones adjoining.

Both through cutting the cost of materials, and through a reduction of labor costs on the job, steel promises to provide a solution for one of the most serious problems of the day.

Not enough small houses of steel frame or all-steel construction have as yet been erected in the United States to allow an accurate estimate of average costs. Mr.

Minor permits totaling $350 were issued to Harold de Normandie to erect a real estate office on the south side of Cutting boulevard between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-sixth streets, costing $100 and J. B. Correa to build a concrete garage costing $250 on the west side of Eddy street between Montecito and Tewksbury avenues.

That practical joke about looking upward

YOU can't help yourself. If you see someone standing still in the street, looking upward, you bend your neck backward. You want to see too. You want to know what's going on.

That instinct is perhaps the main reason for newspapers. So you can know what's going on. Going on among your neighbors, among the people in the next state, in other lands. You want to know the news.

And that's what advertising is for, too. So you can know what's going on. So you can know the news about styles in clothing, about theories in foods, about the latest improvements in radio amplifiers or automobile engines or face creams. News! You want to know the news.

The advertising in this newspaper is here to tell you things. It is here to keep you in touch with the things that are going on. Advertisements are interesting. They are useful. They are news.

Manufacturers and Laborers Equally to Blame for Strike In England Says Speaker

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Labor unionists, who loudly demanded a "living wage" while refusing to do a good day's work and manufacturers who refused to install modern machinery are together responsible for the mighty industrial strike, now paralyzing Great Britain, Julius H. Barnes of New York told 2,500 delegates to the United States chamber of Commerce meeting today.

The "living wage" idea is a thing of the past Barnes declared.

America's unparalleled prosperity is due to the fact that sensitive American workmen have established in the place of the "living wage" the thought that labor's wage should be based upon the production of its labor, Barnes said, adding:

"American organized labor this last year declared the measure of rightful compensation for the worker depended upon the production results of his labor."

"This was abandoned the old theories of a 'living wage'."

"The issue was squarely joined with the European labor concept that the workers' daily performance must be restricted to that more days wages must be paid to accomplish a given result."

"Vast and powerful trades unions, inclined to enforce the outgrown day's wage concept of restricted production, retard social progress in Great Britain. Along with that are the national organizations of employers, slow to see the dividend and wage-earning possibilities of highly modern equipment."

"America's industrial leadership in attained production rests primarily on the American philosophy that the value of work lies in achievement."

"We have learned that increasing production in the day's work means increasing earnings and buying power."

"We have learned that modern industry with its volume production under free competition, can create the magic of higher wages, larger dividends and yet lower priced products."

"If a day's wage in America will buy four times a worker's necessities as a day's wage will in Milan, Vienna or Warsaw, or three times what it will in Amsterdam or London, there is no magic to preserve that superior earning power except the magic of able industry direction and the magic of workers intelligent enough to recognize that production results in hours of work is the measure of their earning power."

Opening the first general session of the meeting, President John W. O'Leary, in his annual address, declared that agriculture is America's most vital problem. Self-regulation, and not governmental aid, is the remedy for agricultural ills, said O'Leary.

Government Kept Trotsky Discusses Possibility of British Revolt

general strike order until some means could be devised to assure the workers the same wages they received while the national subsidy was in operation.

Sir John Simon announced tonight that he will move a resolution in the House of Commons tomorrow asking the government to announce its willingness to give assistance for a short period to the coal industry with the following understanding:

1.—Immediate and unequalled calling off of the general strike.

2.—Agreement by the coal owners for immediate resumption of work at the old rates of pay.

3.—The government to prepare legislation to carry out the recommendations of the coal commission.

4.—Representatives of the miners and coal owners to enter a definite agreement to begin immediate negotiations based on the recommendations of the coal commission report.

The British Worker, in publishing the order calling off the 300,000 strikers, said the government was going to give the miners a sense of relief.

"The men have awaited instructions impatiently, and all over the country they received their marching orders with enthusiasm and a sense of relief."

"In addition to the men obeying this call to reinforce the 'first line' others are out either because of their refusal to work with blacklegs or because the pressure of the strike is closing down factories. Statements issued by the government that strikers are going back to work are as much a fabrication as are the charges that the strike is an attempt at revolution."

"The number of strikers is increasing. There are more workers out today than there have been at any other moment since the struggle began and they will stay out until they are instructed by headquarters to return to work."

The government formally announces tonight that the Central Meat Market at Smithfield is now a protected area and that barriers have been drawn across all approaches, the statement adds that there is as yet an ample supply of home killed beef and measures are being taken to convey the lorries used to transport imported meat from the docks.

A. J. Cook, secretary of the Miners' Federation, when asked today regarding negotiation for peace, said:

"There have been no negotiations. There are many influences, I understand, at work with the object of finding a bridge, but whatever bridge is found it must be one that will secure a status quo, at least for the miners."

The governmental organ, "The British Gazette," announced today that the government had arranged to provide free insurance against sabotage risks for all motor vehicles used in the maintenance of food supplies.

The most serious of the railroad accidents reported St. Margaret's, Edinburgh, where three persons were killed and sixteen injured. An express train from Edinburgh bound for Glasgow jumped the tracks and five coaches were overturned, catching fire.

The other accidents were of a less serious nature, but on the whole constitute a grim commentary on the claim that train service is almost normal again.

The dash through the eastern counties of England of motor vehicles brings home something of the magnitude of the task which has to be faced in feeding London. All through the day the rumble of great trucks is heard in this agricultural district, which includes the counties of Norfolk, Suffolk, Cambridgeshire, Huntingdonshire and Essex, and feeds millions in the cities.

In the evening this stream is reversed, this time the empty vehicles radiating steadily from London to pick up more of their precarious freight of food.

The government today continued its announced intention of dealing severely with those who attempt to stir up sedition in any form. This afternoon a "flying squadron" from Scotland Yard descended upon the east end of the metropolis and rounded up a large number of foreigners accused of having made seditious declarations.

The newspapers assert that these foreigners are avowed agents of the Moscow Internationale. The Daily Mail, declaring emphatically that the government should at once deport all these undesirable aliens, says:

"There are approximately five hundred Soviet agents in Great Britain, attached to the Soviet diplomatic agency and the Soviet commercial agency. All of these agents are avowed and trusted Communists. It is their duty, as well as their desire, to take advantage of the present situation to advance the cause of international class warfare and revolution."

To cope with the crisis developing from the strike situation, the government officially announced tonight that 40,000 special police had been put on duty in London, with 200,000 others in the provinces. These men were enrolled to assist the civil constabulary and the regular police force.

The authorities feel confident that these policemen can meet any situation that arises and that it will not be necessary to call upon the soldiers.

The latest train wreck occurred this afternoon at Brinton station when a steam passenger train crashed into the rear end of an electric train. Seven passengers were removed to hospitals for treatment.

In Manchester large groups of strikers and their sympathizers gave the police a stiff battle this afternoon. The windows of the railroad station were smashed and a motor truck burned by the infuriated crowds.

The shortage in coal is making itself felt in Durham. In Durham police arrested seventeen persons whom they charge with attempting to steal coal from the collieries.

Incendiary fires have been reported from a number of districts, some of them causing heavy losses. When arraigned in court today on charges of delivering an address which might lead to sedition, Noah Abiatti, representative of South Wales of the executive committee of the miners' union, was ordered to give bail in the sum of $1,000 to keep the peace for a year and also pay the court costs of $50.

LAUREA PATRICK MOSCOW, May 11.—"A British revolution depends first on the attitude of the British fleet and, secondly, on possible intervention by the American fleet."

This declaration was made yesterday by Leon Trotsky, the economic chief of the Soviets in delivering his first word on the British general strike, in a special newspaper entitled "Fight Like Devils," issued for the benefit of the strike fund. He added:

"A struggle of the proletariat for power is a struggle for the fleet. The American bourgeoisie will have less desire to enter the struggle if the English proletariat seized all fighting instruments. Entry by the American fleet is very possible, within limits, quite unavoidable."

"The first result of a revolution in England will be the destruction of discipline in all the navies of the world."

"Who knows but what under such conditions the American commanding staffs will refuse to consider blockading England and will withdraw the navy farther from the European coast?"

"A revolution in England will influence the proletariat of the United States more than any other revolution. It will mean the loss of the power of the American bourgeoisie will be overturned a day after the British proletariat takes power. It will be necessary first to make many serious economic and political changes in America before the British revolution can be won. But a revolution in England will weaken the American bourgeoisie and strengthen the American proletariat."

Denying that he desires a revolution in England for patriotic purposes, Trotsky declared:

"We are defending the same interests now with methods of governmental power for which we used to fight with methods of revolutions."

"If the British proletariat loses its fight, it will be a hard blow to international and internal situation of the Soviet Union."

Fortune of "Wolf" May be Located in Mexican Cache

(By Universal Service)

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—A portion of the "mythical millions" of John W. Worthington, Chicago's "Wolf of La Salle street" may shortly be uncovered by a treasure hunting expedition into Mexico headed by Alice Worthington, daughter of the late frenzied financier.

This was revealed tonight by Harry Pike, a Los Angeles automobile man, and finance of Miss Worthington. According to Pike, a cache of nearly $500,000 in bonds and gold certificates buried by Worthington has been located near Ensenada.

Miss Worthington, at present in Chicago, is accompanied by two agents within a few days, according to Pike, and personally directed the search for her father's wealth.

Worthington is reported to have secretly gathered the fortune in bonds from all parts of the country while he was patient at the Glendale sanitarium. He carried it with him on his flight through Mexico. Before he returned to the United States to die behind prison bars, Worthington secreted the bonds in the vicinity of the Mexican seaport, according to Pike's information.

Pike learned of the Ensenada cache several days ago when he was investigating Worthington's local affairs, he said. Worthington is also said to have hidden a large sum of money in Mexico City, but this was "blipped," it was said, by a group of Chicago "engineers" who were reported to have followed his trail.

The exact hiding place of the treasure is said by Pike to be known only by Alice Worthington herself. She accompanied her father on his flight to Mexico, and returned to Los Angeles after leaving him at a hot springs resort.

If the reported Ensenada cache is confirmed by its discovery, it is probable that Miss Worthington will not be opposed in claiming it as her own.

Local Delegates At Annual Meet Of the N. S. G. W.

(By Universal Service)

Thomas Shea and Andrew Summers delegates from the Richmond Parlor Native Sons of the Golden West together with other members of the Richmond parlor were present at the Grand I.O.O.F. convention held in Santa Rosa yesterday and today.

As part of the entertainment a colorful caravan of 240 cars left the famous adobe built by General M. G. Vallejo in 1834 and now owned by the Petaluma parlor.

Sebastopol was also visited by the delegates and the caravan passed through miles of orchards and hop fields on the Russian river. From here they went to Curneyville, Carmel, Montezuma and Rindito to Monte Rio where Grand President Fletcher A. Cutler presented the townfolk with flags and the Native Sons planted the time-honored redwood tree.

Today the Grand Parlor will pass a resolution in memory of Luther Burbank so that the records of the Grand Parlor may contain a tribute to the famous Californian who gave so much to the botanical world.

Standard Oil Rod and Gun Club to Stage Big Opening Sunday

PROGRAM HAS BEEN ARRANGED FOR BIG EVENT

Everyone in City Has Been Extended a Welcome to Attend and Participate

Sunday, May 16, has been set aside as opening day for the Standard Oil Rod and Gun Club. Each year the "Opening Day" of this club is open to all and non-employees are as welcome to participate in the events and fun as much as an employee and member. This year the activities of the club have been placed in the hands of twelve appointed "Board of Directors" namely:

Fred Martin, W. N. Donaldson, Wm. Armstrong, L. B. McCann, G. F. Brooks, S. E. Serag, Thos. Shea, Walter Cole, Roy Erickson, Geo. Shaw, C. P. Smith, J. P. Cannon, and H. E. Aine, chairman.

An elaborate program has been arranged for opening day and should not be missed by anyone.

At 1:00 o'clock sharp the flag raising ceremony will take place and from then on the fun will start.

Competitive teams have arranged for a water base ball game if weather permits, if not the game will be turned into an indoor base ball game.

The Tub Race should create some excitement.

The tall men who think they are fast swimmers will have an opportunity to show their stuff in the "tall men's" swimming race.

The "fat men" will have a chance to paddle around also, and a race is scheduled for them.

A volley ball contest is under way as well as a horse shoe contest.

The big kick of the day will be a "bottle royal" to be staged on a barge located close to the club house. This contest starts with some thirty men in bathing suits on this barge. Then when the signal is given, each one does his utmost to shove the other fellow in the water. The last one that remains on the barge is declared the winner.

The Richmond High school band will give an open air concert during the day.

The life guard of the Gun club will give a life saving demonstration on a supposedly drowned person. This in itself should be instructive.

The big surprise of the day will be held at 4:00 o'clock when a special event will be staged, this stunt is held as a mystery, therefore, you will have to be there to see.

The music for the dancing will be furnished by the "Pepper Grove" Orchestra directed by Hillier.

The Gun club officials have arranged for transportation to and from the picnic.

The Gun club has made arrangements to operate buses. They will start operating at 11:00 o'clock and run until 7 p.m. So if any person hasn't his own car or is not riding out with a friend, beat the Standard Oil Company Garage any time between the above mentioned hours.

The flowers on the Gun club grounds are in full bloom and the swimming pool is always inviting, so if you care to spend a wonderful Sunday, come to this picnic to be held May 16.

SCALPING
California will have a strict check on all of the tickets sold this year for the big California-Standard game which will be held this year at the Memorial stadium of California. Hereafter a person would buy a large number of tickets and then wait until a few days before the Big Game and then sell them at a large price. Now every person who buys a pasteboard will have his name signed upon it and when the tickets are taken check will be made to see that there is no scalping. In case that it is found that a person buys tickets and sells them to some one, that person will be blacklisted and will not be able to buy anymore tickets to any of the C. G. games.

TRACK
The University of Oregon will enter 14 men in the Pacific Coast conference track meet at Stanford on Saturday, according to the announcement made yesterday by the officials of the University. Today these men will train for Palo Alto. Although Oregon has not made a good showing in any of the track meets of the year they have a good chance of coming through with a high score.

MORE TRACK
The University of Washington has made an announcement that they have selected two envoys to the Pacific Coast conference track meet to be staged on Saturday. These men, according to the announcement are Professor C. C. May, chairman of the Athletic committee of the faculty and Darwin Weisner, graduate manager.

These men will have charge of the Husky athletes who will compete in the big match of the year.

SEALS LEND HELPING HAND
At last the Oakland ball fans have love for the San Francisco Seals, for these gentlemen lent a helping hand to push the Oaks up to a tie with the Angels for the leading of the league. This happened when the Seals drubbed the Indians to the tune of 14 to 8 on Monday at San Francisco. The Seals are still in the cellar and the Mission team is not so far above the surface.

RAMBINO RUTH
Babe Ruth, despite an injured foot that has made him limp, is out after his 1921 record of 59 home runs. By slugging a record drive into the stands on Monday he brought his record up to eight for the season, just one more than he had when he was making his record in 1921. It was his third homer in four days and soon after this he retired to rest his foot. Doctors declare that Ruth is in the best condition he has ever been in and that there are no reasons why he should not make a record this year.

ERB TO COACH SQUAD AT IDAHO UNIVERSITY

MOSCOW, Ida., May 11.—Charles E. Erb, Jr., member of Andy Smith's 1921 wonder team and former football coach at the University of Nevada, will be Idaho's new football mentor to succeed R. L. Mathews, resigned. It was announced today by President A. H. Epham.

Erb was selected from a field of 100 candidates by a faculty committee headed by Dean M. F. Angell, head of the college of letters and sciences.

Erb gained national recognition as a member of Andy Smith's team. He was selected as all coast quarterback for three consecutive years and in his sophomore year was awarded a berth on Walter Camp's third all American team.

During his three years of competition, the Californian won every game they played in except one which was a tie. In the New Year's game between California and Ohio State, the strategy of Erb was declared responsible for the western team's victory.

His record as a coach has been markedly successful. Following his graduation from the university he became head coach at Woodland, California high school. His team won eight out of 10 games. He also coached the Woodland American Legion team, which won the State championship.

As coach of the University of Nevada eleven two years ago, Erb developed a remarkable machine out of very limited material.

Having only 400 men from which to draw, he built up a light, fast squad, which won four important games and held two Pacific Coast conference teams to low scores.

California and St. Mary's rated as two of the highest teams in the west, were turned back with meager 26 point victories.

Dean Angell in recommending Erb, announced that the feeling of the committee was that it has been very fortunate in obtaining Erb. His football ability, it is known, is unquestioned, and he has a host of friends among players who have met his teams.

Ray Noidig, assistant football coach under Mathews, said that Erb has an outstanding reputation among coaches of the Pacific Coast conference, and that he was highly recommended by many prominent football officials who had witnessed his team in action.

Suzanne and Helen May Meet Twice at French Tournament

By FRANK E. MASON
Special Cable to Universal Service
PARIS, May 11.—"I may meet Helen Willis twice this spring, according to present plans."

Suzanne Lenglen, the French super-star in the tennis world made this declaration to Universal Service this afternoon on her arrival in Paris from Nice, where she has been resting, to begin practice for the French international championships beginning June 2, in the Bois du Boulogne.

Suzanne added: "The world's professional champion, Albert Burke of Cannes, came to Paris with me to supervise my training."

"I shall begin training practice Wednesday afternoon on the racing club's court, where the championship matches will be played."

"Tennis really is becoming slavery. If I accepted every invitation and listened to every beseeching appeal, I'd play three hundred and sixty-five days in the year. I must limit my play."

"Nevertheless, I expect to 'get' my rival, as you call her, here in Paris and probably also at Wimbledon. I've had a nice rest, and am feeling in top form."

Helen Willis spent this morning in fast practice on the racing club courts. She told Universal Service:

"I am delighted to hear that Mademoiselle Lenglen has arrived, and I am most pleased she has decided to enter the French tournament. I shall do my best."

BERLENBACH TO FIGHT TWICE IN TWELVE DAYS

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, May 11.—Paul Berlenbach must engage in two light-heavyweight bouts within a period of twelve days, as the result of an official decision made by the New York State Athletic commission at its meeting this afternoon.

The champion will first defend his title against young Stribling, under Rickard's auspices on June 10, and will then meet Jack Delaney, June 22, at Ebbetts Field, with J. Humbert Fugazy as the promoter.

Fugazy's request to have the Stribling-Berlenbach bout postponed because of its proximity to the Delaney-Berlenbach fight under his promotorship, was refused by the courts. She told Universal Service:

"I am delighted to hear that Mademoiselle Lenglen has arrived, and I am most pleased she has decided to enter the French tournament. I shall do my best."

A total of four commissions have now agreed to cooperate with the New York commission as an agreement with Rhode Island was drafted and signed at today's meeting. The Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Connecticut Athletic bodies have already signed agreements. The newly created Illinois commission have also been asked by wire for their cooperation.

which would change the complexion of the case in Hoff's favor, Hoff is now ineligible to compete further in this country and of course he is barred from the Los Angeles games.

"Hoff simply told us that he was tired and out of condition and so would not appear in the San Francisco meet. We then told him that his excuse was inadequate and that he must appear in the meet. He defied us and his license was revoked. I don't see where the Southern Pacific's action has any bearing on the case."

The A. A. U. headquarters here is awaiting reports of the incident from the two Pacific Coast associations.

Ed Hill will be on the mound for the Business men while Dick Austin will receive his offerings. Hathaway will chuck for the Fireman and Lavenue will star behind the bat.

CHARLES HOFF IS OUTLAWED BY THE A. A. U.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Unless new and favorable evidence is brought forth in defense of Charles Hoff, the Norwegian pole vaulter, he will not be allowed to compete further in this country, Charles W. Rubien, secretary and treasurer of the A. A. U. declared today.

Rubien gave out this statement when he was informed that the Southern Pacific Athletic association had voted in favor of Hoff's reinstatement, coming to the support of the Norwegian vaulter's claim that he was unable to appear at San Francisco last Saturday, because he was exhausted from his tour.

Rubien said that the Southern and Northern Pacific Associations had both been asked to report fully on the case in order that the foreign relations committee might consider it from every possible angle in the hope of discovering some redeeming circumstance.

Gall Bladder Troubles Gone!
To Whom It May Concern:
For over a year I had trouble in my gall bladder, pain on my right side, vomiting and a general rundown condition. On February 23rd of this year I had an attack of appendicitis, the pain of which was so severe that I could not sleep at night. I came to see the Chew & Chew Herb Co. and after taking one dose of herbs I was greatly relieved. I continued to take the herbs for a few more weeks and I am all well now. March 14, 1926.

ODD FELLOWS IN SESSION IN SAN FRANCISCO

More than 1,000 delegates were in attendance at the grand lodge held by the Odd Fellows at San Francisco yesterday at the Scottish Rites auditorium.

It was the seventy-fourth annual convocation of the order and the officers report that so far it is one of the most successful affairs the lodge has ever held. Grand Master Emmett C. Rittenhouse, of Santa Cruz, presided at yesterday's sessions. In the morning all of the delegates registered at the meeting place and the degree of the Grand Lodge and the degree of the Past Grand was conferred on 350 past grands and among them were several from this city.

While the men were holding their convention the California Rebekahs association assembly was conducting its thirty-sixth annual convention at the Eagles hall.

Grand Master Rittenhouse, at the I. O. O. F. session yesterday read his annual report in which he made several important announcements and recommendations which were referred to the committees for action.

The San Francisco and Los Angeles lodges were the winners of the prizes donated for the lodges showing the largest membership gain.

Just before the lodge convention closed, yesterday, a large number of invitations for the next meeting place were read and Stockton was decided upon as the place to hold the next convention.

At the Scottish Rites Auditorium last night the forty-seventh degree was exemplified by the Golden State Lodge and a dance was held in the Native Son's hall.

Tonight the Odd Fellows will be guests of the Rebekahs when the Rebekahs degree will be conferred.

"When we have passed the pole, American stations will keep in touch with the Norge, helping us to determine the course. Though there may be fine weather at the pole, we must be prepared for unfavorable weather when approaching America, the Bering Straits being known for difficult conditions. This is an added reason why there is some doubt that the airship will actually reach Nome."

Goodcell Talks About Prisons To Church Club

Ladies night was held by the Church Fellowship club of the First Presbyterian church last night with J. A. Long in charge of the meeting. Rex B. Goodcell, gubernatorial candidate gave the chief address of the evening.

In his address he touched upon the prison conditions in the state of California and declared that the present system now in vogue in the state is a moral as well as an economical loss to the state.

He expressed himself as being greatly in favor of the prisoners being used to work on the state roads. In this manner, he declared, the young prisoner who is serving a sentence for his first offense, will be away from the old and hardened prisoner.

He declared that the young prisoner, or the man who is up for a minor offense should be given a chance to reform and the people should back him to place him upon the road to good citizenship.

It is the one who has been sentenced for crimes time after time that should be dealt with harshly, he asserted, for this man is the real danger to the community.

In the matter of building a new prison, Goodcell expressed himself as not being in favor of such a move. He declared that a prison to take care of 1000 prisoners would cost, at the lowest estimate, $3,000,000 and at the highest estimate, $7,000,000. He advised that some other method of caring for those who have wronged society should be found.

The remainder of the program was as follows:

Cornet and trombone solos by Ed and Norman Gregg.

A skit, "The Three Old Maids" with J. Harry Plate, Fred Newson and Dan McLaughlin.

Reading by Mrs. J. T. Conwell.

Solos by Mrs. James Stewart.

Songs by Captain E. H. Howard of the Fire Department.

This was the last meeting of the club until August, when the activities of the club will again be started.

WEBB TO DECIDE IN SCHOOL ROW

As the result of the action of the board of trustees in consolidating the principalships of the Antioch grammar and high schools, District Attorney A. B. Tinnin has been asked for his opinion on a petition being circulated to oust the present members of the school board. The petition is being circulated by friends of Roy R. Huffman, former principal of the grammar school whose ousting became automatic with the consolidation of the two positions.

A petition asking the board to rescind its decision was signed by 500 residents and failure of the board to accede to the wishes of the petitioners has caused them to consider ousting the members of the board.

Tinnin declared that he was satisfied as to the legality of the petition but had submitted the affair to Attorney General U. S. Webb for corroboration. His decision is expected within a few days.
